BIOGRAPHY

Dale is a native born Fort Worth Texan and has lived and worked in the area for most of his life. When Dale was age nine his grandfather gave him an old acoustic guitar and both his grandparents encouraged him to play. He taught himself to play and after a number of years he began to compose his own music. One of Dale's favorite kinds of music has always been film scores performed by symphonic orchestras. After completing his first novel he decided to use his music that he had composed from earlier years and use it for his story. In addition to the guitar Dale plays piano/keyboard, harp and also plays some percussion when needed. He is not a formally trained musician. He has learned music by listening to others and learning in his own way.

With a great collections of songs in his catalog with BMI and his focus is to make a giant splash in the publishing scene and build industry relationships and teaming up with T J C Communications Publishing BMI/Mervilton Records. Writing is the key to success. He writes and records his own material.

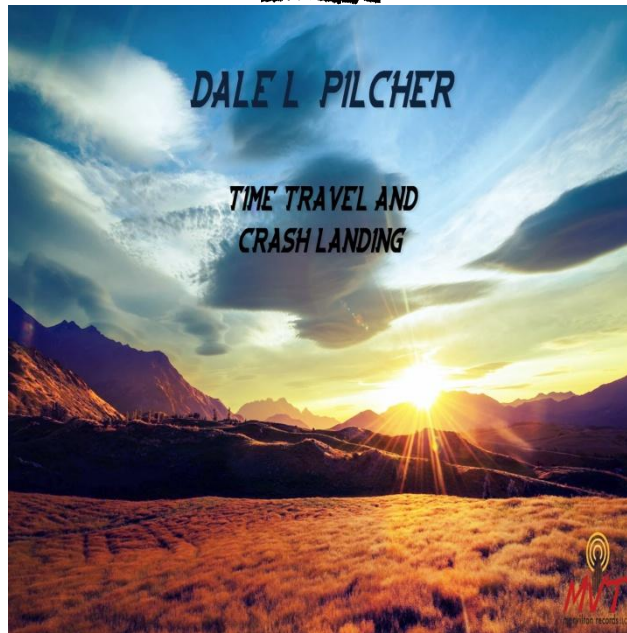

Influences:

Richard Wagner, The Who, Hans Zimmer and Johnny Cash.
